DETAILED ACTION

Statement of Reasons for Allowance

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1 and 24 include the newly added amendment "entries acting as object identifiers, providing a level of address translation between a compiler and the runtime system". The entries are included in a directory of shared variables which is transparent to the compiler, and the runtime system uses the directory to allocate, de-allocate and access the shared variables by mapping threads to the directory and by providing routines for the allocation and de-allocation of the shared objects. In the previous Office action, the reference Long et al. [2002/0129079 A1] (hereinafter "Long") was cited as having anticipated the directory of shared variables with Long's Shared Freelist 112 and Pool 110 in Figure 1. However, Long's Pool 110 is a collection of shared objects and the Freelist 112 consists of monitors which served as locks for the shared objects, and no form or level of address translation between a compiler and Long's runtime system is provided by the monitors and shared objects.

Claim 11 recites a newly added limitation "a common directory of shared variables comprising an array of pointers to partitions wherein a calling thread ... inserts a handle in its partition ... and any thread can directly access ... a pointer of the array of pointers". Long's calling thread can allocate and insert a handle in its partition by acquiring a lock through accessing the Freelist 112 and Pool 110, with the partition being broadest interpreted as the portion of shared data and monitor that are associated with the acquired lock. However, Long's Shared Freelist 112 and Pool 110 do not include an array of pointers to partitions, with the pointers being accessed by threads.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
